The Dangerous Act of Worship: Living God's Call to Justice
By Mark Labberton

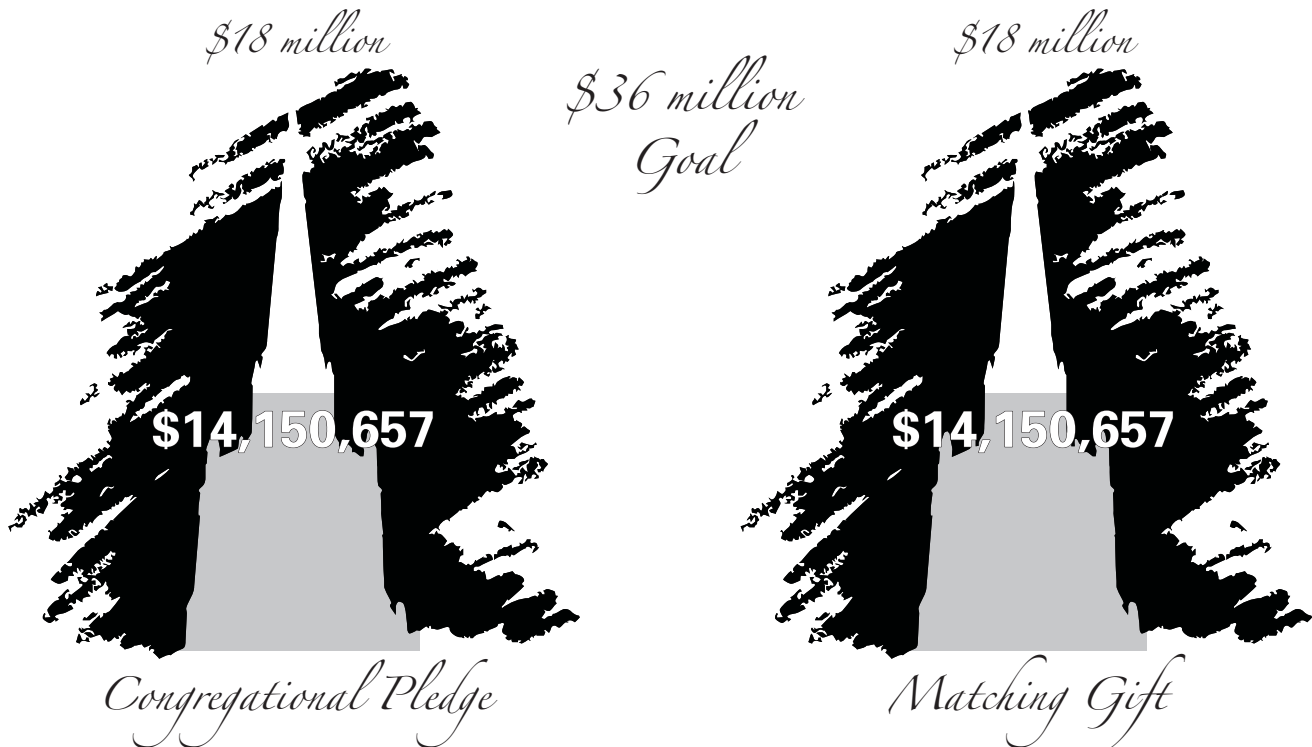

The main point of this provocatively titled book is this: Worship of the true and living God should cause all believers to seek to alleviate suffering in our world, to do justice and love mercy.

Too often the church plays it safe when it comes to worship. We want worship to be under our control, not God's; it needs to meet human expectations, not God's; it tends to be popular, familiar, and comfortable.

Labberton challenges the church to awaken from its slumber and risk the real dangers that come with encountering God. Pick up this book to learn more about how you can engage in the dangerous act of worship, and become a part of God's business.
